

Economics for the Future

What is the future of economics?

This question is the theme for a major international conference organised by the Cambridge Journal of Economics in celebration of the centenary of the Cambridge Economics degree. The Conference will encourage open dialogue amongst all those concerned about the future prospects for economics – including those from other disciplines – and will feature a series of plenary debates between leading academics and opinion formers.

'Economics for the Future'
Cambridge Journal of Economics
Faculty of Economics and Politics
Sidgwick Avenue
Cambridge
CB3 9DD UK

Economics for the Future

Celebrating
100 years of Cambridge
Economics

Cambridge (UK) 17-19 September 2003

A Cambridge Journal of Economics Conference

Announcement and Call for Papers

Sponsored by Oxford University Press

www.econ.cam.ac.uk/cjeconf

Celebrating 100 years of Cambridge Economics

Conference Themes

The Conference will address the major issues challenging economics, including:

- > Globalisation and international economic integration
- > Underdevelopment and uneven development
- > The role of institutions for economic progress
- > The future of economic theory
- > Unemployment and inflation
- > Industrial organisation
- > Corporate behaviour and the financial system
- > Distribution and class conflict

Conference presentations will take two forms: plenary debates by international scholars and presentations organised around the key themes.

Submitting Papers

Papers may be from a theoretical, applied, interdisciplinary or methodological perspective. The emphasis should be on realism of analysis, the development of critical perspectives, the use of empirical evidence and the construction of policy.

Abstracts of no more than 500 words should be submitted to:

The Programme Committee

Economics for the Future Conference
Cambridge Journal of Economics
Faculty of Economics and Politics
Sidgwick Avenue, Cambridge CB3 9DD UK

Papers accepted by the Programme Committee must be received by 30 June 2003. Papers should not exceed 8000 words – and may be considered for inclusion in a special issue of the Cambridge Journal of Economics.

The Venue

The Conference will be held at the Sidgwick Avenue site of the University of Cambridge which is located in central Cambridge and is the home of the Faculty of Economics and Politics, the Department of Applied Economics and the Marshall Library of Economics.

For more
information email:
cjeconf@econ.cam.ac.uk

Or visit the Conference website:
www.econ.cam.ac.uk/cjeconf

Registration Form

(Please print clearly)

Surname	_____
First Name	_____
Title	_____
Organisation	_____
Address	_____ _____
City/Town	_____
County/Province/ State	_____
Country	_____
Postal/Zip code	_____
Telephone	_____
Fax	_____
Email	_____

Registration Fees

Registration includes attendance at all sessions, conference materials, morning and afternoon tea and coffee for each day and attendance at the Conference reception.

- Standard registration > £100
- CJE Subscriber > £75
- Student Registration > £25

For reduced rates please include your CJE subscriber number or student ID as appropriate.

Conference Dinner

Attendees at the Conference are also invited to the Conference dinner on the 18 September at Robinson College – but please note that places are limited:

- Conference Dinner > £35

Accommodation and Other Services

There is a range of accommodation available in Cambridge. But you may wish to take advantage of the specially arranged Conference accommodation at two Colleges that are located close to the Conference venue. Prices include single occupancy, breakfast and en-suite facilities (unless indicated otherwise).

Please indicate where and for which nights accommodation is required

Robinson College

(£60 per night)

- > 16 September
- > 17 September
- > 18 September

St Catharine's College

(£45 per night)

- > 16 September
- > 17 September
- > 18 September

St Catharine's College

(without en-suite £40 per night)

- > 16 September
- > 17 September
- > 18 September

Lunch

Cambridge has a variety of eating places within close proximity to the Conference.

There is a packed lunch available on the 18 September in Newnham College which is adjacent to the Conference venue.

- Lunch cost (18 September) > £7

Parking

Cambridge is 'full' (although September is the best month to visit) and parking can be difficult so we have organised parking for Conference participants at Robinson College for a modest fee.

- Parking > £3 per day

Total

Special Needs

If you have special dietary needs (vegetarian, allergies, etc), or other needs please specify below.

Method of Payment

Fees must be paid by cheque in UK £ sterling made payable to 'CJE Conference' and sent, together with this form to:

'Economics for the Future' Registration
Cambridge Journal of Economics
Faculty of Economics and Politics
Sidgwick Avenue, Cambridge CB3 9DD UK