FELLOWSHIP AND COLLEGE LECTURESHIP IN ECONOMICS

Applications are invited for a five-year fixed term Fellowship and College Lectureship in Economics, from 1 October 2018. The successful candidate will have research interests in any appropriate area but will be expected to teach a broad range of subjects within the Economics Tripos. Preference will be given to candidates able to offer undergraduate supervision in macroeconomics and microeconomics.

The Fellowship is intended to provide a valuable development opportunity for a fixed term to an individual in the early stages of their academic career to allow them to build teaching skills, a publication record and other academic activity with a view to obtaining a university appointment in Cambridge or elsewhere.

50% of the teaching will be for Selwyn College, with the remaining 50% for Robinson College, where the successful candidate will be elected into a College Lectureship. The pensionable stipend will be in the range £29,799 - £33,518, being Steps 39-43 on the University scale. The exact stipend will depend on experience and qualifications.
